Shinsuke Ikeuchi

Color

23 - 28 March, 2022

JPS Gallery is delighted to present Shinsuke Ikeuchi's solo exhibition "Color" at the Tsutaya Bookstore in GINZA SIX. Ikeuchi is a self-taught engraver who works across mediums and oscillates between the boundaries of two-dimensional and three-dimensional presentation.

We are usually surrounded by a variety of colors in our daily lives, and almost unconsciously, we recognize colors through our senses and perceptions. It is believed that color information obtained through vision is not merely recognized by the mind, but is also understood by already existing knowledge and the five human senses.

Each color has a different meaning depending on the knowledge, experience, thought, and mood in an individual's consciousness, and the worldview that color gives off is very freeing. The exhibition titled "Color" is composed of colorful works based on the concept of "Color" as an element that can express one's own life story and emotions. Ikeuchi hopes that through this exhibition, you will feel the power and allure of color.

About Shinsuke Ikeuchi (b.1984, Japan)

Self-taught engraver Shinsuke Ikeuchi works across mediums and oscillates between the boundaries of two-dimensional and three-dimensional presentation.

His projects aim to expand the possibilities of traditional artistic expression. He uses metal engraving techniques combined with organic and inorganic materials to capture what he describes as "the fundamental energy of life," one that retains the three-dimensionality and fluidity of metal.

Shinsuke was born in Fukuoka, Japan in 1984. He is the winner of multiple awards, including the Excellence Award at the Fukuoka Asian Art Museum and the Fukuoka Governor's Award at The National Art Center Tokyo, to name but a few. The artist currently lives and works in Tokyo.
